SUMMER DEVELOPMENT SERIES

Student Life Human Resources invites you to maximize your professional development time this summer and participate in the new Summer Development Series, a series of three learning opportunities aimed at professional and graduate administrative staff in the Office of Student Life.

Instructional Design University (IDU)
IDU is a two-day event providing participants with an opportunity to dig deep into instructor-led and online learning to better design, develop and implement effective learning opportunities for their unit.

Online Learning Seminar – Wednesday, June 18 (8:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.)
Participants in this one-day seminar will spend the day immersed in a world of online learning with professionals from Huntington Bank, AEP and Articulate, who will share their knowledge of basic terminology, how to construct interactive content and reimagine quizzing and assessment through games. Register to attend this event; seating will be limited.

Instructor-Led Training Institute – Tuesday, June 24 (8:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.)
Participants in this one-day institute will create their own instructor-led learning experience through a rotation of morning sessions on adult learning theory and multiple intelligences, developing more effective training content, the value of presentation aesthetics and how to evaluate behavior change. The afternoon will be dedicated to improving facilitation and presentation skills through video and 1-on-1 coaching. Register to attend this event.

Annual Conference Encore – Thursday, July 17 (8:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.)
Participants in this half-day event will get a broad-sweeping look at the work being done by colleagues across the Office of Student Life through an encore of professional conference presentations delivered throughout the 2013-14 conference season. But, there’s a catch! This encore event will be delivered Pecha Kecha style, leaving participants with both a glimpse of their colleague’s talents and, a challenge for how you will use this new knowledge. Register to attend this event.